Senate Farmer Leader Predicts Butter Supports Will Drop

Vast Stocks Of Dairy Products Are Headache

Washington (AP)—With mountains of butter now piled up under government loans, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) predicted yesterday that the level of government price supports on it will drop.

Aiken, chairman of the Agriculture Committee and a long-time friend of dairy producers, told a reporter that he expected the present price support of about 67 cents a pound to be cut to 56 or 60 cents.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, under existing law, will set the price support level effective April 1.

About a year ago Benson continued for one year the 90 per cent of parity level that had operated during the Korean War. Parity is a regulated price used for government and support programs intended to give a product a stable purchasing value.

Benson, Aiken and most other lawmakers agree that the vast stocks of butter, cheese and other dairy products that have accumulated under government supports are a major headache.

"We certain that butter supports must go down to 75 or 80 per cent of parity," Aiken said.

Even this lower level is not expected to solve the problem of government-held surpluses which now total 265 million pounds of butter, 260 million pounds of cheese and 425 million pounds of dried milk.

Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.), a former secretary of agriculture, said a large number of novel proposals are under study for coping with the situation.

One suggestion is to give a pound of government surplus free with each pound bought at regular prices.

Another is to have the government buy the entire butter output and then resell it at a loss so it could be retailed at about 46 cents a pound. This is aimed at meeting the competition of oleomargarine.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said yesterday he would favor selling some of the surplus to Russia and other Iron Curtain countries.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) told the Senate last week that surplus butter may wreck the whole system of farm price supports.

Holland said average citizens soon may become so disgusted that they will demand that "restrictive, punitive and destructive measures be taken with respect to the whole agricultural price support program, much of which is beneficial."

The subject is likely to be discussed on the Senate floor today, when an emergency request for 740 million dollars of additional farm price support funds is taken up.

Great Asian Spy Ring May Be Blasted

Tokyo, Monday (AP)—The largest spy ring in Asia may have been cracked wide open.

If Yuri Alexeievich Rastovorov, missing second secretary of the defunct Russian Embassy in Tokyo, is in American hands as everyone is beginning to suspect, Secret Service agents are getting the lowdown on a situation that had been worrying U. S. officials for more than two years.

Rastovorov disappeared last Saturday. Japanese police don't know where he is. American Army and State Department representatives refuse comment.

But there is a growing belief that Rastovorov left Tokyo Saturday aboard an airplane which took him to Okinawa, huge American military installation 700 miles south of here.

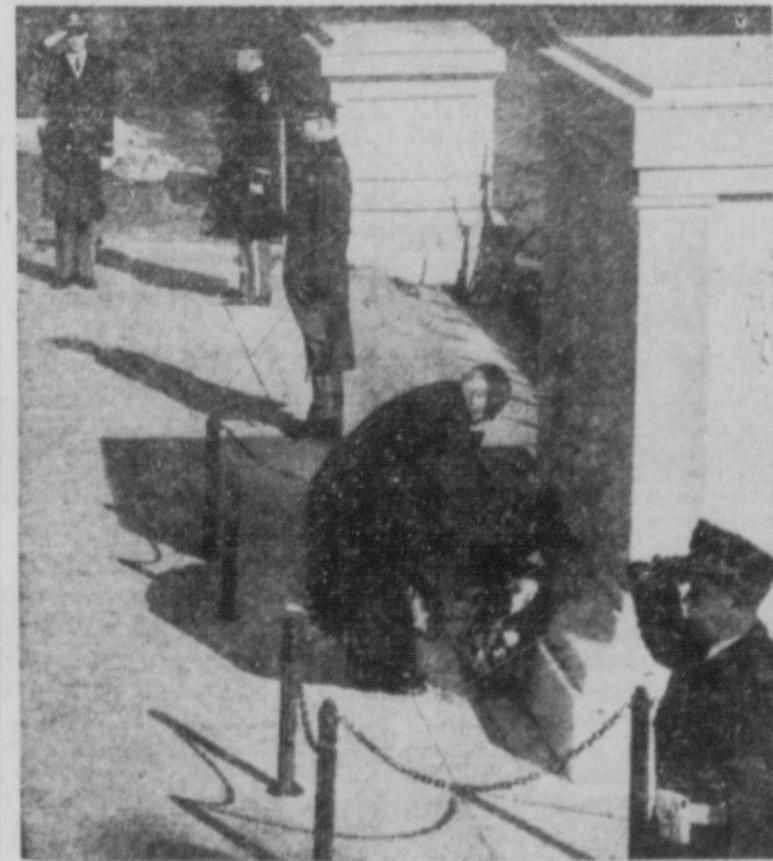

Moscow Quotes Late President

London (AP)—Moscow radio yesterday cited the views of the late President Roosevelt in an effort to back up Russia's call for a five-power parley including Red China.

An ace Soviet commentator named Timofeyev, in an English-language broadcast brimming with praise for the late President, said Roosevelt had urged constantly the need for five-power unanimity on world problems.

DeGasperi May Succeed To Italy's Premiership As West Looks On Anxiously

Rome (AP)—Italy's pro-Western leaders groped again yesterday for a formula to end six months of political instability which has become a new worry of the free world.

For the fourth time since last June's elections, President Luigi Einaudi will begin the formal consultations today which precede naming of a new premier.

This time he is looking for a man to replace Christian Democrat Amintore Fanfani, who tried and failed to build a lasting government on a program of economic reform and anti-communism.

The Christian Democrat party in a communiqué last night declared it is ready to try a center party coalition. Many observers saw in the announcement an attempt to put the middle-of-the-road veteran ex-Premier Alcide de Gasperi back in the saddle.

De Gasperi was Premier in the postwar period up until the elections last June. He was cheered wildly by his party when he spoke in Fanfani's defense last week, just before the vote of non-confidence toppled the latest Christian Democrat government.

The planned coalition evidently would include the Christian Democrat party which De Gasperi heads, the centrist Social Democrats, Liberals and Republicans. If this team would work together again under De Gasperi it would enjoy a 16-vote majority in the Chamber of Deputies, and proportionately the same margin in the Senate.

The fall of Fanfani's 11-day-old government in a no-conference vote in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday left Italy without a working government for the fourth time in six months. It is the second such political vacuum to descend on the nation in a month.

Atty. Gen. Brownell, acting under direction of the top National Security Council, has granted five big American oil companies immunity from anti-trust prosecution in order to allow them to join the combine.

The American companies are reported to be Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Gulf Oil, The Texas Co., and Socony Vacuum.

Under plan now being discussed, these five American firms would join with the British government-dominated Anglo-Iranian Co. and Royal Dutch Shell to move and distribute Iran's nationalized oil production.

Many months of negotiations are in prospect yet, both among the companies and between the British and Iranian governments before the plan can be put into effect.

Ground Hog Day Tomorrow May Tell Weather, But It Also Has Religious Significance

By Leonard Randolph

Tomorrow is "Candlemas Day." In case that fails to hit a resonant chord in your sluggish Winter-style memory, we might give you another hint.

It's also the day set aside to honor a grizzly critter by name of "Marmota monax."

That's the name he gets in the biological social registers, but folks who know him well call him plain old "Ground Hog."

He's also known as the "marmot," the "wood chuck" and in this neck of the woods we sometimes refer to him as the "Groundhog."

For such a little guy he's made quite a name for himself. Most of his fame rests with an (alleged) ability to poke his nose out of a hole each year and forecast the weather.

Like many another common "holiday" which bears no particular significance (other than humorous or debatable) on the surface, "Ground Hog's Day" has a religious background.

This superstitious approach to the weather stems from, and coincides with, the religious celebration of a special day upon which all candles used for altars or other sacred purposes were to be blessed.

All our friend ground hog needs to do is wake up from his long cold weather nap, snap to a bit and burrow his way out of his hole in the ground.

Communist Press Denounces Illicit Love, Especially In High Places Of Regime

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet press is denouncing illicit love, especially in high places. It wants traveling men to spare the honor of Soviet women.

The newspaper Tadzhikistan Communist, recently published a slogan warning to Russian women against engaging in love affairs with married men, even though they hold important places in the Communist party or trade unions. The paper is the organ of the party in the Tadzhikistan S.S.R. in Central Asia and is published at Stalinabad.

Bricker Is Ready For Compromise

Washington (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-OHio) said last night he would go along with a compromise on his proposed constitutional amendment on the President's treaty-making powers if the administration also would support it.

The compromise, put into final form at a meeting of Republican and Democratic leaders at the capital Friday now is under the scrutiny of President Eisenhower and experts in the State and Justice Department.

The President, who has announced his unalterable opposition to the Bricker amendment in its original form, is scheduled to give his answer on the compromise to Republican congressional leaders at the regular weekly meeting at the White House today.

Bricker, who was reported Saturday to have agreed to accept the compromise, confirmed this tonight on nationwide NBC television show, "Meet the Press".

However he stated that his agreement was "on the condition the administration will support it when presented" in the Senate.

The Ohioan also declared he was satisfied that the compromise will "meet the cardinal principles" of his original proposal although he refused to divulge the language of the substitute.

McCarthy Aide Refuses Talk In 'Coddling'

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine, 26-year-old former aid to Sen. Joseph McCarthy, yesterday declined to comment on charges he was coddled by the Army during basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Schine arrived here late yesterday to begin eight weeks of basic military police training at the Provost Marshal General Center at Camp Gordon.

Capt. Edgar M. Jones, PIO at the center, said Schine had read newspaper accounts of the charges but declined to comment or pose for pictures.

Schine, member of a wealthy family that owns a string of hotels, was drafted Nov. 3. He finished basic training at Ft. Dix Jan. 16 and was given a furlough before reporting to Camp Gordon.

Capt. Harry H. Lapham, Ft. Dix information officer, said Friday the Army would inquire into allegations that Schine got preferential treatment. His statement followed publication of a story in the New York Post earlier in the day of the alleged favoritism.

He is required, however, to request relief from all duty of his Army area commander when the eight-year obligation is fulfilled.

Indochina War Rages Into Eighth Year

By Larry Allen

Hanoi, Indochina (AP)—The winter campaign in this eighth year of the Indochinese war has reached the halfway mark with no major victories by either the French Union or Red-led Vietnamese and no decisive battle in prospect.

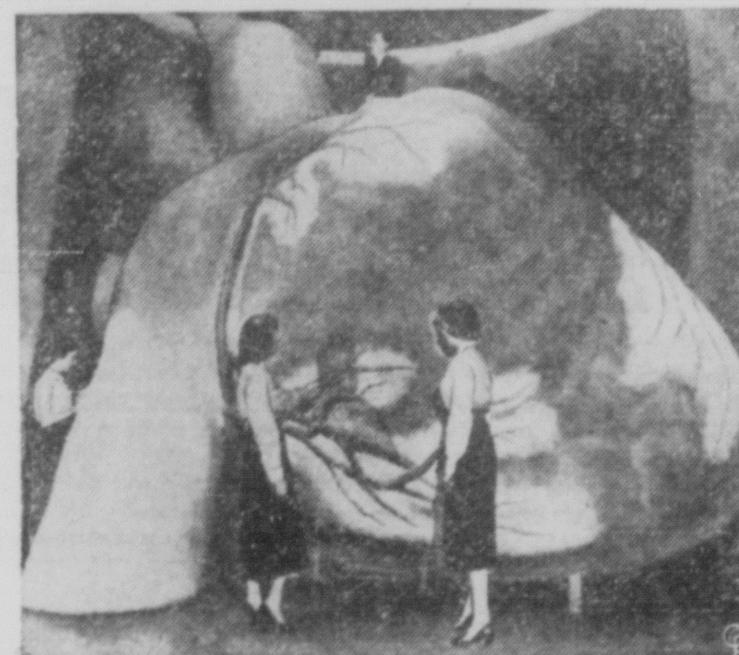

There is no concrete explanation, so far as most source books are concerned. One parallel is obvious, however.

The blessing of candles used in religious functions brought a promise of well-being in the lives of those performing the ritual.

From this spiritual beginning, man has evolved a "natural" phenomenon to replace the religious performances of theology.

Call it what you will, Tuesday, Feb. 2, is an important day in the yearly book of U.S. citizenry. In some parts of the country, groups of men, women and children gather at specific locations to view the coming of the ground hog from his hole.

Foreigners Beat Americans To U.N. Jobs In Europe Because Of Security Delay

Washington (AP)—Investigating congressmen reported yesterday that delay in loyalty clearances for Americans is giving United Nations jobs in Europe to other nationals "who probably involve a much greater risk" for U. S. interests.

Recruitment of Americans for 10 specialized U. N. agencies "has been drastically curtailed" and in some is "practically nil," because clearances have taken as much as six months, a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee said.

The group cited the cases of six women who had borne children to married men, were deserted by them, and then tried to get the philandering gentlemen to do right by the women.

The three-man subcommittee fully endorsed the loyalty program established by the State Department last year after congressional investigation of some American U. N. employees. It requires a full investigation and clearance of Americans to be employed by the U. N. or any of its agencies.

In "no instance," the report said, should the standards established by those procedures be lowered or relaxed."

The subcommittee proposed a further study of the problem "in view of the fact that the international organization reserve an independent position on the hiring of a United States citizen even in the case of an adverse loyalty report on such an individual." For the present, it added, the U. N. and its agencies have agreed to wait for clearance before hiring Americans.

The AFL leaders are due to decide whether they will set up machinery for settling squabbles among rival AFL unions and whether they will implement a similar peace plan with the rival CIO.

Feelings are so tense the entire plan might be tossed out, and if that happens any early chance for an AFL-CIO merger will fade away too.

The AFL and CIO have carefully negotiated a plan for arbitrating squabbles between unions over bargaining rights for workers, but the pact will apply only to whichever unions ratify it. Virtually all the CIO unions have indicated they will go along, but some major AFL groups are hesitating.

The AFL leaders are due to decide whether they will set up machinery for settling squabbles among rival AFL unions and whether they will implement a similar peace plan with the rival CIO.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Merrow (R-N.H.), made what it termed the first field study of U. N. agencies by a legislative group from our country last October and November. It visited seven West European nations.

Bread Is Up Cent A Loaf In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh (AP)—Bread will cost a penny more a loaf in most stores here today.

Wholesale bakers said yesterday they are boosting prices by one cent and retail grocers are expected to pass on the increase. That means housewives will be paying 20 cents a loaf.

However, at least one large grocery chain which bakes its own bread said it would keep prices at their present levels.

The increase was blamed on higher costs of flour and shortening.

It was identified as Frank Lerch, a student at the University of Minnesota, apparently missed a curve on Highway 100, which partially circles the city. The wreck was reported by a passing motorist.

Lerch was identified as the son of Frank Lerch, Box 282 North Rd., Murrysville, Westmoreland County.

St. Paul (AP)—The body of Robert W. Lerch, about 28, Murrysville, Pa., was found here early this morning in his overturned car.

Police say Lerch, a student at the University of Minnesota, apparently missed a curve on Highway 100, which partially circles the city. The wreck was reported by a passing motorist.

A spokesman for the New Haven Gas Co. said there was a break in the main nearby.

Switchmen Will Take Strike Vote

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP)—The AFL Switchmen's Union of North America said last night it was taking a strike vote against all the railroads with which it holds contracts. The union said the vote was in support of its demand for a 40-cent an hour wage increase.

A spokesman said more than 10,000 employees of five large railroads and many smaller ones were involved.

March Of Dimes Campaign Falls $5,871 Short Of Its Quota

$11,129 Is Collected By Workers

Monroe County March of Dimes was still short $5,871 hard cash in its $16,000 goal when the campaign officially ended at midnight last night.

The cash receipts stood at $11,129.

But one major item had not yet been counted: returns from the coin collection cards on store counters throughout the county. Last year coin cards netted about $1,000.

And campaign chairman Richard R. Fredenberg appeared to have pulled a small financial rabbit out of the hat with the aid of Radio Station WVPO Saturday.

A successful hours-long "talkathon" over the air during the afternoon brought telephoned pledges from local residents amounting to $434.20.

Joe Webster took the microphone to start the program rolling and bring in more than a dozen live interviews, talks with local polio victims made by tape recording and music.

In the hours that followed Webster presented brief talks by Rev. William F. Wunder, Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, Rev. John Esseff, Rev. Ernest T. Campbell, Rev. Harold C. Eaton. Tommy Cullen appeared with his swing band to provide free entertainment for the polio talkathon, and Arch Possinger showed up with his square dance outfit for more music.

Jesse S. Flory, burgess of East Stroudsburg, and Gerald M. Posinger, burgess of Mount Pocono, were interviewed by Webster and made special pleas to their borough residents on behalf of the campaign.

Tom Waring filled in gaps with piano solos, songs and informal talk. Webster had planned to play a recording for every 10 dimes pledged—but had to leave that basis when the pledges began coming in fast.

The 600 coin collection cards will be picked up this week and counts counted.

Fredenberg said that although the campaign is officially over on the last day of the month there are still thousands of polio contribution envelopes which haven't been returned.

Of the 8,700 sent out at start of the campaign, said Fredenberg, only 1,777 have been returned—about 19 per cent.

"We still need the help of those who haven't sent their cards in," said Fredenberg. "If the card has been lost, please put a contribution in an envelope and mail it to Polio, Stroudsburg, Pa."

Fredenberg said the Saturday night dance at the Elks Club in East Stroudsburg netted $115 for the polio fund—$64 in admissions and the rest in money for the cake-walk. An additional $50 was received from organizations.

Other receipts stood as follows, according to Fredenberg:

Mother's March $6,294.92; coin envelopes $3,341.75; special events $353.27; advance gifts $225; business and labor $300; schools and colleges $57.39; clubs and organizations $390.72.

Local Foxhounds Win Top Honors During Trials In Georgia's State Contests

Two Monroe County foxhounds—Fanny and Wolf—strolled off with the Georgia State championships during last week's field trials in Dublin, Ga.

Fanny and Wolf are the property of partners Boyd Weiss Jr., Bushkill, and John S. Schoonover, East Stroudsburg RD 3.

Schoonover was unable to attend the field trials, but Weiss and his wife packed Wolf, Fanny, Pride and two other foxhounds from Chipperfield Kennels into their car and drove down for the four-day bench show and field trials.

The bench show came first, then the field trials. Chipperfield Fanny won best derby bitch; Chipperfield Wolf took the prize as best derby dog. Chipperfield Pride managed to win a seventh place in the all-age bitch class.

Then—trouncing the state champions of Florida, Alabama and Virginia—11-month-old Wolf got the nod from judges as best dog in show.

The next class was the traditional best dog of opposite sex (the opposite sex of the dog named best in show).

Here Fanny took the blue ribbon, in effect netting Chipperfield Kennels the number one and number two spot for the entire show.

Wolf's win automatically made him Georgia State champion.

The black-and-tan Walker foxhound puppy may be shown next at the West Virginia State show in Huntington Saturday night—if Schoonover can get a moment away from his job with Line Material Co. or Weiss can find some time away from Bushkill Falls House.

Col. William M. Mack Will Retire From Signal Corps Duty Here Next September

Tobyhanna — Col. William M. Mack will retire from the Army this year, leaving vacant the post of commandant of the Signal Corps Depot here.

That was the announcement he made to friends at a surprise birthday party for himself and his wife Friday night at Skyline Inn.

The colonel, 53, said last night he had made no plans on what he would do after leaving the Army.

He is a native of Washington, D. C., but said he had not yet decided where he would be living after retirement.

Clyde Burke, Mount Pocono, public relations officer for the depot, said he understood the retirement date would fall around Sept. 30.

The party was given for the Mack's by the depot, with Burke and Louis DePaul, Mount Pocono, making the arrangements. The Mack's celebrated their birthdays the same day.

First commanding officer of the depot was Lt. Col. Thomas E. Morrison, who served as liaison officer when reactivities of the depot began.

Col. Mack was named depot commander by the Pentagon in February 1953. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1924, and has put in some 33 years of service as an officer.

Before coming to the Tobyhanna depot, Col. Mack served as commandant of the Signal Supply School of the Army.

Erie Man With Pet Dog Burned

Erie, Pa. (AP) — Louis Tomei, about 65, and his pet dog burned to death yesterday in a fire which gutted the bedroom of his two-room frame home in Summit Twp., about five miles southwest of Erie.

Firemen blamed the blaze on an overheated stove. They did not know Tomei was home until after the fire was extinguished. His body was sprawled across a bed, indicating he may have been overcome by smoke.

Is Speed Worth It?

How much time do you really save when driving your car at high speeds?

Very little. In fact, by no means nearly enough to justify the increased danger of involvement in a highway accident.

Despite higher-than-average speeds on turnpikes and some especially designated roads, the fact remains that although a 'fast' driver may arrive at his destination more quickly than another motorist driving more slowly, he actually doesn't save very much time.

Let us take a ten-mile trip as an example. Today, no one could or would drive a car at 10 miles an hour. If one did, however, that ten-mile trip would take 60 minutes. Now, study the following rundown of statistics and discover the surprising facts:

A ten-mile trip:

- At 20 mph takes 30 minutes.
- At 30 mph takes 20 minutes.
- At 40 mph takes 15 minutes.
- At 50 mph takes 12 minutes.
- At 60 mph takes 10 minutes.
- At 70 mph takes 8.6 minutes.
- At 80 mph takes 7.5 minutes.

It is obvious then that at speeds above 50 mph the time saved is almost negligible. However the frequency and severity of traffic accidents increase greatly with increased speed for the simple reason that fast-travelling motorists have less time to perceive, judge and act in an emergency.

It is evident that the accident potential increases in relation to the speed.

So, is speeding really worth the little time saved?

On Taking Cover

State Civil Defense Director Richard Gerstell warns all of his fellow Pennsylvanians that the idea of taking to the hills in event of an enemy air attack on the cities of our commonwealth is one that would undoubtedly provide mass suicide.

He reiterates that even with the state's new instantaneous air raid warning system whereby Air Force alerts fan out over the commonwealth in a matter of seconds, we can still count on only ten minutes advance warning in case of attack.

Thus, he argues, it is far better to take cover at the first indication of impending danger than to try to flee from the city.

Reason for this advice, it seems, is the misunderstanding of many who read the President's recent budget message to Congress in quick and careless fashion and interpreted it to mean that improved warning of impending attack would permit dispersal of the population from potential target cities in advance of such attack.

Ultimately, of course, it may be possible to have a longer period of warning for cities threatened by air attack, but even then Dr. Gerstell points out that traffic channels in the larger communities can not possibly accommodate the tremendous total of vehicles required to evacuate a population.

The defense director paints a picture of what would happen if the automobile owners of such cities as Philadelphia, New York or Pittsburgh suddenly jumped into their cars and took off for the hills. Traffic jams such as the country never before experienced would be the obvious result, with corresponding loss of life because of the inability of vehicles to move.

Think of what would happen at Seventh and Main, and Ninth and Main intersections!

Until something new is added, the "duck and cover" principle of self-protection will continue.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

(An imaginary impression of the first day's session):

Mr. Dulles—Well, here we are at last.

Mr. Eden—I would still like verification to prove this session is not just a rumor.

Mr. Bidault

—Shall we proceed any further or quit when each thinks he is ahead?

Mr. Dulles—Gentlemen, the eyes of the world are on us. Always assuming there aren't too many things on TV at the moment.

Mr. Dulles—We were smart to keep this an afternoon program.

Mr. Molotov—I wish to vote "No."

Mr. Dulles—Nothing has been proposed for a vote yet.

Mr. Dulles—It is clear to me that the Soviet Union intends only to hamper and obstruct the aims of this meeting.

Mr. Molotov—You mean you had DOUBTS!

Mr. Dulles—We were hoping there was an outside chance Russia might be ready to change her obstructive routine.

Mr. Molotov—The word "outside" is right.

Mr. Dulles—I call this meeting extremely encouraging. We have been together almost give minutes and not a skull cracked yet!

Mr. Dulles—Let us not interpret this too optimistically. The danger of trouble will always exist when we assemble to talk of peace. It's a fighting word.

Mr. Dulles—It is my hope the time has arrived when we can at least establish a proper mood. We must not hold each other at arms length exchanging frozen stares.

Mr. Molotov—I resent that implication of a frozen stare.

Mr. Dulles—I was not referring to any unilateral stare.

Mr. Molotov—I am instructed to vote "No" on item two.

Mr. Eden—I tem two hasn't come up.

Mr. Molotov—I am directed to veto it early anyhow. And now I rise to reply to the speech of the delegate from the United States regarding pooling fissionable materials.

Washington—The Senate will definitely confirm Albert C. Beeson's appointment to the National Labor Relations Board, but it is going to be done the hard way.

The battle over the California businessman will be rough and tough.

For the first time this session, the top Democratic leaders of the Senate are supporting their party militants in a struggle against an Administration appointment.

It wasn't that way last week in the fight over approving Robert Denham (former chief counsel of the Labor Board who was ousted during the Truman Admin.)'s enforcement of the Taft-Hartley Act," continued Neely.

"Yes," admitted Beeson, "I agreed generally with what he did."

"Then I want to tell you," thunders Neely, "that I think he was the greatest menace to labor that ever held office in this country."

Senator Lehman questioned Beeson closely on his business connections.

"How completely have you severed your relations with the Food, Machinery & Chemical Corporation?" asked Lehman.

"I resigned from the firm and had no agreement of any kind to return after my work in Washington," declared Beeson. "I have a few shares of stock in the company, that I purchased through a management plan, but the amount is of no consequence. I am not (Defense Secretary) Charles Wilson."

"I'm glad to hear that," Lehman said drily. "But I have a California paper before me quoting you as saying that your appointment by President Eisenhower is only for one year and that you will return to your job with this company. Also, just how many shares do you have?"

"I did not make that statement," declared Beeson, "and my stockholding consists of 32 shares."

Senator Kennedy wanted to know exactly how Beeson got the Labor Board appointment. The latter replied by laying a letter before the Committee and saying, "I believe that will answer the question." The letter written by Beeson to Senator Republican Floor Leader William Knowland, was as follows:

"Perhaps you remember our meeting in San Jose when, as a friend of (Vice President) Dick Nixon, I attended one of the political meetings. Last week, while in Washington, Guy Farmer (new Republican chairman of the Labor Board) asked me if I would consider an appointment if it were offered to me. I told him I would. He then asked me to write you and others to support my appointment, and that is what I am doing in this letter."

The committee had barely taken their seats when Senator Neely bluntly demanded, "Mr. Beeson, as a member of the Labor Board, would you be biased in favor of business?"

"I believe that the Wagner Act was written deliberately to protect employees in their right-to-bargain," replied Beeson. "Now, you could say, if you like, that I was a 'union buster.' In one company I was with in Pennsylvania, it is true we 'froze-screched' the workers into defeating a union. On the other hand, I have stood up and explained to management many times that employees have every right to belong to unions."

"Did you favor the manner in which Robert Denham (former chief counsel of the Labor Board who was ousted during the Truman Admin.) enforced the Taft-Hartley Act?" continued Neely.

"Yes," admitted Beeson. "I agreed generally with what he did."

George Sokolsky Says...

Local Responsibility Must Be Accepted First For Nation's Highway Systems

The decay of a civilization is always marked by a deterioration of the means of communication. In older countries, these means were limited to two, land roads and waterways. The Roman Empire, for instance, was knit together by a system of roads, remnants of which still stand; the great British Empire was held together by control of the seas, a control now lost and perhaps no longer necessary.

The United States from earliest times was road conscious and as the population moved westward, the roads and trails were expanded. River traffic played an enormous role in this expansion and at one time, numerous canals were built. The dramatic development of the American railroad filled earlier generations with pride of accomplishment. The "Good Roads" movement followed the popularization of the automobile, which required surfaced roads for greater efficiency. In this movement, counties, states and the Federal Government played an important role. It could be said at one time that the United States possessed the best road system in the world.

Today that road system is disintegrating. Many factors enter into this condition, wars, the large numbers of cars, the enormous size and weight of trailer trucks, bottlenecks that were not foreseen, bad planning, wasteful covering of ancient roads without adequate engineering, corruption, etc., etc. It is estimated that it will cost $40,000,000,000 to modernize the entire Federal road system which is beyond the national capability while we are expending our wealth on past and future wars.

Now along comes a very wise man, P. W. Litchfield, Chairman of the Board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, who knows more about roads, automobiles and rubber than any man I know. He says:

"We need to organize at the local level. Let's go after an adequate cure for the bottlenecks we know about through our own personal observation. Let's concentrate our efforts on getting roads built and bridges and streets widened in our own neighborhoods, in our own cities, in our own states."

Many of our great efforts need decentralization. Our people have become so accustomed to expecting the Federal Government to do everything on a vast scale, involving billions of expenditures, that we forget the old Chinese adage that the place to start cleaning up is on one's own doorstep. While we are making huge demands on the Congress, much more can be done in municipalities, counties, states. Litchfield added:

"And there, I believe, is an important missing key to a program of immediate action—aggressive organization at the local level so that the public demand for action can be aimed at specific rather than general targets. We should switch from the scatter gun to the rifle."

The lesson Mr. Litchfield teaches can be applied to many of our current problems. President Eisenhower is reported to have said that FEPC, for instance, is a practical plan.

Truscott To Appeal Nelson Case

Harrisburg (AP) — The Commonwealth plans to appeal a State Supreme Court decision overturning the conviction of Steve Nelson, Western Pennsylvania Communist leader.

Nelson was convicted under the State Sedition law. The state court's ruling did not affect a similar conviction under a federal statute.

Atty. Gen. Frank F. Truscott said:

"If the decision of the majority of the court, which in effect nullifies the State Sedition act, is not reversed, action by the state against Communists and other subversives will be virtually impossible."

"The decision is so broad that it is well within the realm of possibility that federal-state co-operation and control in other fields of criminal law enforcement will be materially affected."

The state's highest court overturned the conviction last Monday by a 4-1 vote. It held that the Federal Smith Act gives the federal government exclusive jurisdiction in cases of seditious acts against the United States.

Meanwhile, Justice Michael A. Musmanno said the Supreme Court had turned down his appeal to his colleagues to reconsider their decision.

Musmanno, who filed the appeal Friday, said he was rejected on grounds "I am without standing to bring an appeal."

Musmanno did not participate in the decision since he prosecuted Nelson and appeared as a witness against him. He said he will appeal the decision to the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington.

Since the advent of penicillin in 1943, this drug has unquestionably saved thousands of lives.

Penicillin has also been responsible for a number of deaths.

Ten years ago this drug was hailed not only for its curative powers but also because of the infrequency and mildness of reactions following its use.

Today, penicillin heads the list of medicines in regard to the frequency, diversity, and severity of the reaction or sensitivity induced.

Before the sulfonamides appeared in the mid-thirties, allergic reaction to drugs was relatively uncommon.

What reaction there was, such as from aspirin, quinine or ipecac, was mild.

Severe reaction was rare, usually due to serum, and but few deaths resulted.

The use of the sulfonamides increased the number and severity of drug reactions, causing fever, various skin eruptions and other unfavorable manifestations.

In the first years of penicillin use there was little or nothing reported about sensitivities.

Then reports began to appear about fever, skin disorders, chills, headache and generalized muscular pains following treatment with penicillin.

The first fatal reaction to penicillin was reported in 1946, how many since that time is somewhat a matter of conjecture.

Much penicillin sensitivity is unnecessary, according to Dr. Richard A. Kern, professor of medicine at Temple University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, writing in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

Don't use penicillin in minor ailments, is one of his suggestions. DO YOU KNOW?

Births in this country during the first quarter of this year ran more than 29,000 ahead of the same period last year, an increase of 3 per cent.

President Attends Special Mass

Farm Hired Hands Get High Wages

Harrisburg (AP) — President Eisenhower yesterday attended a traditional Mass for the legal profession at St. Matthew's Cathedral, where the pastor pictured the "massive forces" of Communist propaganda as a grave threat to America's freedom.

Also present for the Roman Catholic ceremony—known as the Red Mass for the color of the vestments worn—were Mrs. Eisenhower, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Tom C. Clark and Sherman Minton.

The congregation of 1,200 persons included, too, Postmaster General Summerfield, Secretary of the Navy Anderson, members of Congress and the diplomatic corps, judges from the federal courts of the District of Columbia and scores of Washington lawyers.

The mass was offered by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington. The sermon was given by the Rt. Rev. John K. Cartwright, rector of the cathedral.

Mr. Cartwright spoke of need for dependence on divine guidance. He said there is "a sense of encouragement at the spiritual leadership of our chief magistrate," who with Mrs. Eisenhower is a member of the National Presbyterian Church here.

"President Eisenhower," the monsignor said, "the constitutional duties imposed on you are very heavy ones. To them you have added that of giving your fellow countrymen a good example in paying homage and not only on this Sunday to the God 'who hath made and preserved us as a nation'."

The President and the first lady sat in a front pew. He wore a black suit and Mrs. Eisenhower also was in black with a fur stole and a small gray hat.

The traditional Red Mass—known formally as the Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit—was inaugurated more than 700 years ago in Europe to mark the annual opening of the law courts. In this country the custom of invoking divine guidance on the administration of justice was started in New York in 1928.

Eisenhower is the first president to attend the ceremony. Harry S. Truman attended as vice president.

Screwy Doings Pile Up Throughout Nation Every Day To Delight People

New York (AP) — From coast to coast the odd event was as prevalent as the common cold last week. For example:

A fellow who said he turned in a false fire alarm in Sacramento, Calif., because he wanted to talk to somebody who was insured against loneliness by six months in jail.

The Oklahoma City YMCA announced its new aquatic committee would include Lee Fish and Al Whale.

In Atlantic City a convention conference on fishery products was switched from the stratosphere room on the eighth floor of a hotel to the submarine room on the ground floor.

A Detroit woman accused of double parking had her sentence suspended because a policeman's horse sneezed in her face.

On the same day in Detroit another horse skidded into a truck. Damage to truck: $190. Damage to horse: none.

The cops in Clarksville, Tex., offered a free cup of coffee to any out-of-town traffic violator.

A heavy Detroit coffee-drinker, objecting to the rising price, switched to tea and started phoning 700,000 listings in the city telephone directory beseeching them to do likewise.

The annual "Snow Ball" at Glen Burnie, Md., high school was called off because of five inches of snow.

A national television movie crew sent to Stillwater, Okla., to document the town's impressive traffic safety record set up cameras just in time to record a collision between a truck and auto.

He said, "We don't expect of 1,250,000 union members, the maximum number found not working was 118,000. He added that there always is a normal number of unemployed in a group like this."

McDonald said he certainly hoped there would be a swing toward fuller employment but couldn't make such a prediction.

With fewer calories than any other leading beer...

Brewed to the American taste . . . the American figure

Ballantine watches your belt-line

It is only fair to say that practically all of today's beers are lower in calories than they used to be. All are starch-free, none has more than a negligible trace of sugar.

Still, when counting up your calorie quota, it's good to know that laboratory tests show Ballantine has fewer calories than any other leading beer.

But Ballantine not only watches your belt-line. It brews to the American taste as well as to the American figure.

This is the same beer you and millions of others have been enjoying in the past. Backed by over 100 years of brewing experience, it has the same full flavor and fine character that has made it one of America's largest-selling beers.

Next time, ask the man for Ballantine—the low-calorie beer with the flavor that chill can't kill.

Newest Floor Tiles Shaped Irregularly

The Do-It-Yourself mania for fixing up houses is making a sort of super-scout out of the home handyman, keeping him constantly on the lookout for new materials, new ideas. And such new things keep turning up to make bids for that part of the family budget we thought was earmarked for something else.

Just to dip into a few of the most recent developments, did you know that you now get exact color matches in all types of paint—whether for masonry, woodwork, plastered walls or wallpaper, ceilings, metal work—any place you'd use paint?

Did you know you can get acoustic tile to silence the youngsters' basement rough-house room—or any other room—in fancy patterns without holes punched in the material?

And if you'd like something different from squares in asphalt tiles for floors, you can now get asphalt tiles in irregular flagstone shapes that fit together in various colored patterns like a jigsaw puzzle. Imagine using your entire basement floor to work out a jigsaw puzzle!

The Paint Mixing formula is the newest development in using tubes of colors to duplicate the exact color you start out with. This priv-

Should Congressmen Receive Pay Increase? Read This, Then Judge That For Yourself

By Raymond Wilcox

Central Press Correspondent
Washington—Every congressman is searching his conscience now and wondering whether he should vote to raise his salary. A special commission has recommended that members of the House and Senate be paid $27,500 a year, an increase of $12,500 over the $15,000 compensation they now receive. Senator Wayne Morse, the Oregon Independent, says congressmen are "very well paid" and should forego the proposed raise.

This is an election year and congressmen are always loathe to increase their salaries under such circumstances because they are not sure how their constituents will take it.

However, the resolution establishing the special commission provided that Congress must vote on its recommendations in 60 days, so it must be cast before election.

If you were a congressman, would you vote to increase your salary? In order to better help you decide, here is a description of what each member of Congress receives financially during his term in office:

His basic salary is $12,500 a year. He also receives $2,500 annually for official expenses. This allowance is tax free.

A representative is given $12,500 a year to pay his office help. He also receives special allowance for this purpose which may almost double the amount.

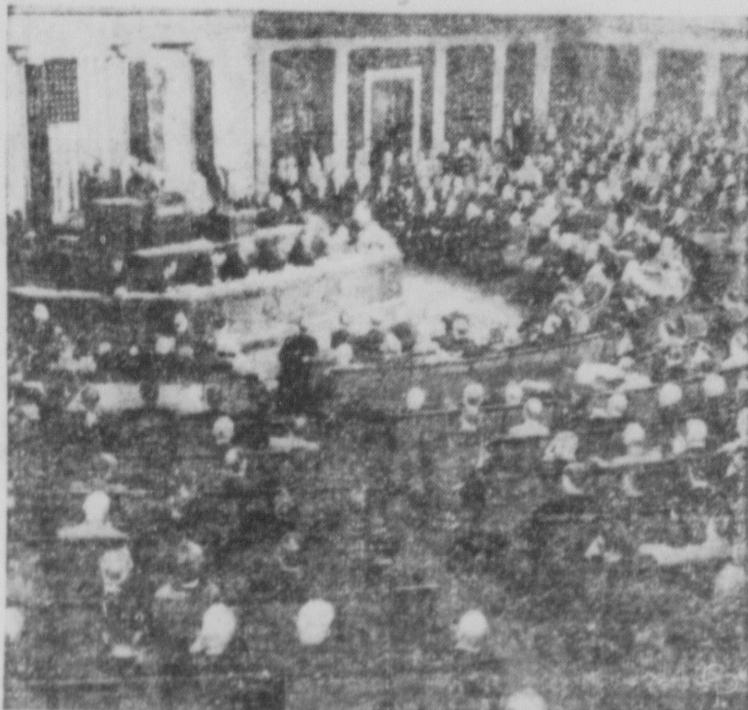

A senators office help fund varies according to the population of his state, ranging from $39,540 for Nevada to $49,680 for New York. Again, there are special allowances.

The government pays each congressman for one round trip from his home to Washington for each regular session at the rate of 20 cents a mile. Each member usually makes more than one trip.

A representative receives $125 worth of airmail and special delivery stamps each year, a senator $132.07. In addition, each member gets $800 worth of stationery, office supplies, etc.

A House member may also make 150 minutes of long distance telephone calls a month free and may send 1,000 words monthly by telegram without cost.

Senators are permitted 60 long distance calls each month totaling 300 minutes and also receive $450 for calls originating outside Washington. They also receive $2,000 for telegrams, with senators from the more populous or more distant states being granted a more liberal allowance.

Senators and representatives in joint session in House chamber.

All members of Congress send their regular office mail free. This is known as franking.

Free medical service is obtainable at the Capitol, where a medical office staffed by Navy personnel is permanently maintained.

Congressmen may receive hospital treatment at the Naval Medical Center in nearby Bethesda, Md., or at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center for a flat rate of $14.75 a day. This covers all treatments, including operations.

In comparison to congressmen, most top federal officials receive more pay. The President makes $100,000 a year, plus a $50,000 expense allowance, plus funds for maintaining the White House, for travel, and for entertainment purposes.

Cabinet members are paid $22,500 a year and federal judges receive $15,000 to $25,500. The vice president and the Speaker of the House gets $40,000 each a year, including expense allowances.

The special commission created by Congress composed of outstanding representatives of agriculture, business and labor, lists among the reasons for recommending pay raises the following considerations:

Members must maintain dual homes in their districts and in Washington, must make numerous costly trips home and travel about their districts, must pay out of their own pockets for many telephone calls and telegrams, have social obligations to constituents, and must contribute to many benefits and facilities as well.

Members of Congress last received a pay raise in 1945. Commensurate pay raises for federal judges were also urged by the commission.

Congressmen also have their own restaurants at the Capitol at which they obtain meals at reduced rates. On many occasions, however, they have to pay for the meals of visiting constituents as well.

Congressmen also receive retirement pensions after they reach 62, provided they serve a required

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Walt Stem, former basketball coach at East Stroudsburg High and now director of the Grand Theater entry in the Blue Mountain Basketball League, was unable to attend last Wednesday's "Battle of the Boroughs" as a spectator or coach for the first time in 18 years. Walt was leading his pupils against Nazareth on the same night that Stroudsburg was scoring a 69-66 victory over East Stroudsburg. Walt must have been seized with the desire to stay home and watch the kids, but went ahead to another chapter in his present court duties.

Stroudsburg High continues to frown on publicity for its Junior High basketball team. In case anyone is interested the score of last Friday afternoon's tussle with Belvidere, on the Stroudsburg High boards, was 28-27 in favor of the visiting contingent. The Mountaineers just missed pulling the game out of the fire in the closing seconds of action. The Monroe County League school that had its nets hanging upside down from the basketball hoops, reportedly will place the nets into regulation position in the very near future. The job might even be done by this time.

Howard DeNike, veteran track and soccer coach at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, is currently acting as athletic director at the local college in the absence of Oscar J. Lilljenstein. Lilljenstein is currently recovering from surgery at the Monroe County General Hospital. George Ockershausen, assistant football mentor and head wrestling and baseball coach, is serving as assistant athletic director at the same school at the present time. The ESSTC-Millersville wrestling match last Saturday was much closer than the final 26-5 score would indicate.

The ESSTC-West Chester swimming meet took place in the West Chester YMCA pool and not the new West Chester State Teachers College pool as expected. The Rams are still waiting for their school pool to be approved by the state. The Cortland-ESSTC swimming meet, originally slated for Saturday, March 6, will be held at Cortland this coming Saturday instead. More soccer honors involving Normal Hill booters will be announced sometime this coming week. Fred Prender, West Chester's outstanding football back of recent years, was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers last week.

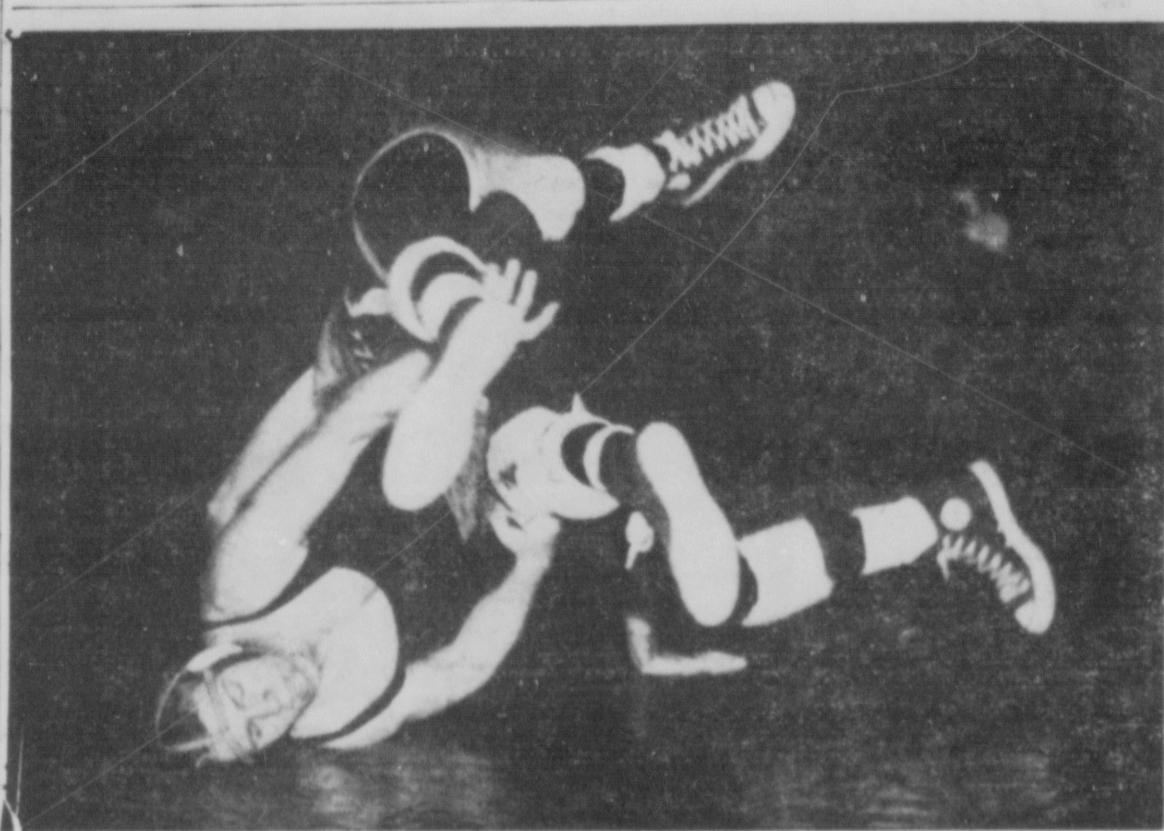

The East Stroudsburg State Teachers College baseball team will oppose Lincoln University, an all-Negro school, for the first time next spring. The game will be played on the Normal Hill field. A wrestling match with Swarthmore College, on the latter's home mats, has been added to the ESSTC schedule. The match will take place this coming Saturday. Gomer Davies, former 137-pound wrestler at ESSTC, is now mat coach at Swarthmore. This match was made possible when John Hopkins gave up wrestling and Swarthmore had to fill a hole in its schedule.

East Stroudsburg High Schools basketball team will be guests of the school at the championship game in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament in Madison Square Garden, Saturday, March 13. Byron "Chick" Miller, former Stroudsburg High cage star, broke up his mid-term vacation from Utica College by racing back to school to play a basketball game last Saturday.

Crowe's Insurance, East Stroudsburg's representative in the Delaware Valley Bowling League, protected its first place position by sweeping four points from Pat's Kiddie Shop here at Easton. The Harmony boys held the upper hand most of the ball game, building their front-running margin as the game progressed.

East Stroudsburg Teachers Drop Opening Wrestling Match To Millersville Grapplers

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College launched its 1954 wrestling campaign on a losing note on Saturday, as Millersville scored a 26-5 victory over the mat Warriors, in the Normal Hill gymnasium.

Bob Murphy, in the 127-pound event, and Jerry Rushin, 137-pounder, were the only point winners for the home town forces of Coach George Ockershausen.

Murphy, a freshman, opened the meet by scoring an 8-2 decision over Millersville's Carl Petters and the Warriors were away to a 3-0 lead. But Bob Bigler, Millersville came right back to pin Roy Evans, another freshman on the ESSTC squad, with a cross-body at 4:35.

Millersville went ahead at this point 5-3 and never relinquished the lead the remainder of the distance although Rushin and Glenn Flegel, of the visiting squad, wrestled to a 4-4 draw in the 137-pound class. Flegel holds three collegiate championships.

The visiting Millersville crew piled up the points in the remainder of the match. Bill Zagare pinned ESSTC's Jim McCullum in 5:10 in the 147-pound event, and Pete Mahoney, Millersville, earned a 4-2 decision over Jim Revello in the 157-pound bout.

Bill Fisher outlasted Joe Myers, ESSTC, in a good 167-pound tussle by an 11-6 count, while Don Griffiths, former Kingston High star, gave Millersville five more points by pinning Stan Scarfoss in 4:19.

Ken Cox, ESSTC's heavyweight, lost to Warren Groff in the final and one of the best matches on the program by a 7-4 tabulation.

ESSTC returns to the mat wars on Wednesday when the Warriors tangle with powerful Lack Haven, on the home mat of the Bald Eagles.

Harmony Five Takes Measure Of Gray's Chevrolet, 82-70

Pocono Fines — Getz's Harmony Five moved to within one-half game of second place in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League on Saturday night with an 82-70 verdict over Gray's Chevrolet. The game was played here on the Tobbyanna Township High School court.

The Harmony boys held the upper hand most of the ball game, building their front-running margin as the game progressed.

at the end of the first period, 19-17, and went in front at halftime by a 40-36 count after holding a 21-19 edge during the second 10 minutes of play.

Although the outcome of the game was in doubt until late in the final quarter, the Harmony Five, playing the role of host, held the upper hand in the third period, 20-19, and then constructed a 21-14 advantage during the final round.

The loss was the second in eight outings for Gray's Chevrolet, while the win was number five in seven trips to the hardwood for the Harmony Five.

John Krall and Al Bartholomew paced the losing attack with 17 and 15 tallies respectively.

Lyle Krall and Al Bartholomew paced the winning attack with 18 and 13 points, respectively.

Wade Keen continued his recent high-scoring antics at the expense of the Mounties, dropping 17 markers in the Waymart cause.

Tuesday will be an open date as far as conference competition is concerned with a full four-game slate on top Friday night. Hawley will be at Honesdale, Waymart at Lake Township, Damascus at Pleasant Mount and Moscow will provide the opposition in Greene-Dreher-Sterling's annual Booster game.

In the east as action picked up following mid-year examinations:

Fulters piled up an early lead and hung on for a 74-67 victory over Colgate; Dave Hobson, son of Yale's coach, tallied 12 points in a decisive final quarter in the Eli's 83-71 triumph over Army; Fordham broke loose in the fourth period to overwhelm Seton Hall 67-53; Siena outlasted Manhattan in overtime 72-66 and Pitt squared matters for the season with Columbia, walloping the Lions 82-65.

American University exploded for its highest point total in history in trouncing Baltimore 110-72. North Carolina State jumped away to a 20-18 first quarter lead over St. John's of Brooklyn and then went on for an 84-61 victory.

Three Matches Slated

Three matches are listed for the East Stroudsburg Church League at Harmon's Recreation today, at 7 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Holy Name vs Temple Israel.

Alleys three and four — Presbyterian vs Lutherian.

Alleys five and six — Methodist vs St. Matthew's.

Poconos Entertain Grand Theater On Stroudsburg High Court

Stroudsburg Poconos and Grand Theater add an East Stroudsburg-Stroudsburg touch to the Blue Mountain Basketball League today, when they clash on the Stroudsburg High School court at 8 p.m. It will be the second meeting of the campaign between the two teams, with the Poconos holding a win in the initial clash.

The Poconos are currently in second place, one full game behind pace setting Weston A. C. The Poconos have a record of 10 wins and two defeats, while Weston owns 11 victories and has suffered but one reversal.

Grand Theater is fifth in the present standings with a mark of four victories and twice as many defeats.

Coach Tom Shaffer's Poconos are expected to answer the starting whistle with Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman and Henry "Hank" Stetler at the forward post and Tom Phillips at center. The two starting guard positions will fall to either Tom Somers, Jim "Bunky" Smith or Paul "Muff" Warnick.

Lineup

Grand Theater, coached by Walt Stem, is expected to counter with Harold "Hai" Staples and Al Rice at the forward berths. Ray Steele will probably be at center, while Russ Staples and Ray Mery take care of the guard posts.

Both local teams face the task of winning regularly during the remainder of the campaign if they are to reach their respective goals of first place for the Poconos and the number four position for the Grand Theater cage machine.

The first meeting of these two teams took place on the East Stroudsburg High School court and the Poconos rolled to an 85-44 victory.

Furman Star Nears New Scoring Mark

By ORLIE ROBERTSON

New York (AP) — Furman's Frank Selby, rapidly rewriting the college basketball record book, was within nine points today of the most coveted of all major college marks—the three-year scoring performance of 1,888 points.

When the eagle-eyed senior dropped in 53 while leading Furman to a 114-72 victory over The Citadel Saturday night, he ran his total point production to 1,879 with at least 14 games remaining.

Selby should break the record, established by Kansas' Big Clyde Lovellette two seasons ago, when Furman meets Clemson tonight. He has been averaging close to 40 points a game, 10 above his own national record of 29.5 set last year. If, however, he should fail, he'll get a chance before a Madison Square Garden crowd Thursday, when Furman meets Manhattan.

Selby's individual performance and Furman's scoring output were highs for Saturday as 10 of the nation's top 20 ranking teams saw action and turned in victories.

Reduction

But the list of the country's unbeaten list was reduced to five, Erskine fell from the elite group, losing to Belmont Abbey 102-85. That left top ranked Kentucky (13-0), second rated Duquesne (12-0), Western Kentucky (18-0), tied for fourth in last week's poll, 18th ranked Connecticut (14-0) and little Norwich (12-0) on the undefeated roster.

Kentucky, displaying its power off the boards, had no trouble thrashing Vanderbilt 85-63 in a Southeastern Conference game. A crowd of more than 7,000 at Nashville, largest ever to see a basketball game in Tennessee, saw Vandy play the highly rated Wildcats to 17-17 standstill through the first period. But the Commodores never were in the game thereafter as Frank Ramsey scored 24 points and Cliff Hagen, playing with an injured leg, heavily contributed 22.

The Dukes of Duquesne, however, had a tougher job turning back St. Bonaventure at Buffalo 53-41. Experiencing their poorest shooting night of the season, the Dukes fell back on their rebounding and defense to keep control of the ball. Canisius downed Creighton 92-80 in the other half of the Buffalo doubleheader.

Western Kentucky and Connecticut took the night off but, while the Hilltoppers face a comparatively easy three-game schedule this week, the New Englanders go against powerful Fordham on the Ram's floor Wednesday night.

Fordham, 67-53 conqueror of Seton Hall Saturday night, has dropped only two games while winning 12.

Minnesota (12-2), ranked eighth was the only other member of the top 10 in action. The Gophers whopped the improving Michigan State Spartans 79-71 to remain in the thick of the Big Ten title race, led by third-ranked Indiana (12-1).

There was much more activity among the second 10 with only Wichita and Kansas, tied for 16th, idle. Seattle, unbeaten in 19 games since losing its first game to Wichita, ran over Portland 80-66 and it wouldn't be surprising to see the Chieftains among the first 10 in the next poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Big Reason

Chief reason behind the sweetness and brevity of the meeting is the fact that all teams except the Chicago Cardinals made money during the 1953 season.

The National Football League ended its three-day meeting here Saturday and Commissioner Bert Bell reported "not one bitter argument." The sessions have been rough and tumble affairs for many years.

Fourth, Fifth

The United States' entries, piloted by Art Tyler of Rochester, N.Y. and defending champion Lloyd Johnson of Rapid City, S.D., wound up fourth and fifth, respectively, as German sleds took second and third.

On the other hand nearly every club was making preparations to "protect" its draft choices, selected Thursday, from raids by Canadian teams.

Money Making Owners Happy

Philadelphia (GP) — A little profit can certainly make a professional football team owner a pleasant and harmonious chap.

Big Reason

Chief reason behind the sweetness and brevity of the meeting is the fact that all teams except the Chicago Cardinals made money during the 1953 season.

Even the anticipated war with Canada seems likely now to be limited to individual skirmishes between clubs, instead of a full-scale struggle. Bell said, however, that some Canadian-bred players already are being contacted.

On the other hand nearly every club was making preparations to "protect" its draft choices, selected Thursday, from raids by Canadian teams.

Swiss Star Wins Bobsled Crown

Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy (GP) — Fritz Feierabend, 45-year-old Swiss veteran who won his first world title 15 years ago, piloted his sled to the world four-man bobsled championship yesterday with a record-smashing performance.

BURGESSSES OF THE Stroudsburgs join hands to back the Heart Association in its current drive for funds in this region. Jesse S. Flory, left and Hal H. Harris, right, of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, respectively, pledge support. Holding sign urging a successful campaign are Parke Kunkle Jr. and William F. Grimm.

American Heart Month Is Proclaimed By Burgessses

Schools, churches, scientific bodies, social and fraternal organizations and the people generally today were urged by Chief Burgess Jesse S. Flory and Hal H. Harris of the Stroudsburgs to actively support the local Heart Association in its February Heart Fund campaign.

In a proclamation designating February as American Heart Month, Burgessses Flory and Harris pointed out that diseases of the heart and circulation are the leading causes of disability and death in this area, as well as throughout the United States.

The heart fund, sponsored by the Monroe County Heart Association and the American Heart Association, is seeking to raise $2,600 here in its month-long campaign. The major portion of contributions will support local and state programs, with the remainder going to advance the nation-wide program of the American Heart Association.

The Burgessses' proclamation stressed these factors:

"The people of this community earnestly share the hope of science that practical measures can be found through research to combat cardiovascular illness."

"There is urgent need for public education to dispel harmful misconceptions concerning heart disease."

"This community requires heart programs looking toward the protection of healthy hearts and the rehabilitation of heart disease sufferers."

The text of the proclamation follows:

PROCLAMATION

Be it proclaimed: WHEREAS, diseases of the heart and circulation are the leading causes of disability and death in this city, as throughout the United States;

WHEREAS, these diseases constitute a basic health problem that is everybody's concern;

WHEREAS, the people of this community earnestly share the hope of science that practical measures can be found through research effectively to combat cardiovascular illnesses;

WHEREAS, there is an urgent need for public education to dispel harmful misconceptions concerning heart diseases;

WHEREAS, this area requires community heart programs looking toward the protection of healthy hearts and the rehabilitation of heart disease sufferers; and

WHEREAS, the Monroe County Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association, devotes itself during the month of February, to an effort to enlist the aid and cooperation of the people, science, medicine, government, health agencies and social agencies in a constant and intensive battle against heart disease;

NOW THEREFORE, we, Jesse S. Flory and Hal H. Harris, chief Burgessses of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, respectively, do hereby order that the month of February be observed in this area as American Heart Month. We further call upon all schools, churches, scientific bodies, civic associations, business establishments, social and fraternal organizations and the people generally to fully cooperate in the Heart Fund Campaign and its activities to improve the public health.

Local WSCS To Meet Tonight

The WSCS of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet tonight at 8 in the church parlors when Mrs. John Robertson will have charge of the devotions.

The program will be presented by the Methodist Youth Fellowship, under the direction of Mrs. Roger C. Stimson. Mrs. Curt Miller and her committee will have charge of the refreshments to be served following the meeting.

New Addition To St. John's School Near Completion

Many forward looking plans were promoted at the largely attended meeting of the officers and teachers of St. John's Lutheran Church School held last week.

The new superintendent, Richard Fredenberg, presented a very fine plan for his operation of the school. He was warmly welcomed by the teachers.

Mrs. Ruth Long and Mrs. Albert Andress were elected to the staff of teachers for the new nursery and beginners department. Mrs. Richard Lindroth, the new superintendent of this department presented her plans for its future operation. This group will be housed in the newly constructed first unit of the educational building which is nearing completion.

Owing to ill health, Mrs. Thompkins was compelled to tender her resignation which was reluctantly accepted and a prayer offered for her speedy recovery.

The officers donated $20 towards the Polio drive for Monroe County.

New furnishings were ordered for the primary and beginners and nursery departments. All other furnishings have already been received and it is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy within the next few weeks.

The treasurer was authorized to forward the check to pay for St. John's Parish Abroad at Uppurru, India. Seven hundred dollars in government bonds were turned over to the vestry for the building fund.

It was decided that the February meeting on the last Wednesday in the month take the form of a covered dish supper at which all officers and teachers will attend when further plans will be made.

Mrs. Edson To Speak Before Jr. Women

Mrs. Warren Edson, vice president Northeast District, Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the guest speaker at the Stroudsburg Junior Woman's Club at the Stroud Community House, Tuesday at 8 p.m. Mrs. Edson will speak briefly to the club members on various problems of club activities and affairs. She is planning to have a question-and-answer period following the discussion of these problems.

An impressive candlelight induction ceremony will be conducted for new members by the membership committee and club members. The new members to be inducted are: Mrs. Robert Metzger, Mrs. James Detrick, Mrs. Lenox Reid, Mrs. Harold Cleaver, Mrs. William Osborn, Miss Dorothy Butz, Mrs. John Kupice, Miss Joan Harlacher, Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, Mrs. Frank Armitage, Mrs. Jeanette Graham, Miss Dolores Dellaria, Mrs. Beatrice Steinmetz, Mrs. Somerville Nicholson, Mrs. William Howard, Mrs. W. Douglas Kitson, Mrs. S. Jerome Rubin and Mrs. Robert.

The officers announce numerous important matters are on the agenda for the night including the second nomination for officers.

At the close of the meeting a covered potluck supper will be held in the dining room at which time all members having birthdays in January, February and March will be honored.

Announcement was made that another committee meeting would be held at the Manor Sunday, March 28, when further arrangements will be made for the fall conference.

The text of the proclamation follows:

Mr. Albert To Give Talk At Temple Israel

Temple Israel Sisterhood will meet in regular session in the vestry room Tuesday night at 8:30 when there will be a program in addition to the business session.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Jean L. Albert, executive director of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County. Mrs. Albert will discuss the subject, "The Child Is The Future" which will be illustrated by colored slides telling the story of the work of the organization in local families.

Mrs. Albert is a graduate of Barnard College and has a master's degree in social work. She has been identified with the local organization the past four and a half years.

Portland PTA Plans Program, Witnesses Play

Portland — The PTA meeting of the Portland school district was held on Thursday night in the school gymnasium. Mrs. John A. Ribble, president, was in charge of the business session, preceding the program.

Tentative plans were made for a card party to be held in March, with Mrs. Henry Webb, chairman. Announcement was made that Founder's Day will be observed at the meeting Thursday, Feb. 4.

A donation of $5 was given to the March of Dimes.

The by-laws are to be revised this year with Mrs. Horace Rualing and Mrs. Walter Emery the committee.

Mr. Paul Morton introduced Dr. Francis B. McCarty, of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, who presented the program. He spoke and conducted a discussion following a play, "Scattered Showers." Mrs. Harold Flagler directed the play through the courtesy of the Child Guidance Clinic.

The play dealt with the problems and treatment of a 5-year-old child in three different homes. The cast portraying the different mothers were Mrs. Harry Walz, Mrs. Martin Ellsweig and Mrs. Robert Zellers, of East Stroudsburg.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of sixth grade.
